Penetration Tests:

- Physical

  Visiting a location and attempting to breach physical security barriers, network systems, or personnel to identify weaknesses in security.

- Network & Wireless

  Assessing the security of an organization's network infrastructure such as routers, switches, and other network devices. Our testers aim to discover potential entry points for attackers and assess the effectiveness of network security controls.

- Web Applications

  Evaluating the security of web applications like websites, online portals, and web-based services in an attempt to find vulnerabilities in the application's code, configurations, and authentication mechanisms.

Vulnerability Assessments:

Our experts use special tools to check computer systems, networks, or software to find weaknesses or security holes. These weaknesses could include outdated software, misconfigured settings, or other issues that might be exploited by hackers or cause problems. By identifying these vulnerabilities, organizations can take steps to fix them before they are discovered by bad hackers.

Social Engineering Awareness Training:

We conduct training sessions at your business or educational institution.

Awareness training is essential for safeguarding your organization's data, assets, reputation, and industry standing. It also cultivates a security-conscious workforce capable of adapting to evolving cyber security threats.
